AN Gatherings Are Quickly Dispersed, and the Situation Seems to Be Well in Hand - Mrs. Goldstein Arrested for Persisting in Addressing Rioters.

The fact that it was the Sabbath contributed to quietness on the east side to-day. There were crowds in the streets after the services in the synarogues, but hordes of policemen kept everybody moving and there was little disorder. The gathering of a few people together was the signal for a charge of bluecoats.

One arrest was made during the morning. Mrs. Annie Goldstein, of No. 30 Chrystie street, mounted the stoop of her house and began to hartice of the police, City Magistrate Cornell and the authorities gener-Policeman Haughlin ordered her to stop. Defectives went to Bridgeport, come to New York and testify at the infectual search has been made for an intimate friend of Florence Burns, and if the information concerning her testimony that has come to the Districtions. The districtions will be seen to the Districtions of the connecticut witness is willing to come to New York and testify at the information concerning her the information concerning her testimony that has come to the Districtions of the officers. Inside the house Richardson had an unobstructed view in three directions. One block away Policeman Torn Grant stepped from his shelter to fire into the house. A shot from the besieged house killed him before he could fire.

The attracked party sent word to police headquarters and Chief of Police have letters written by Florence Burns threatening the life of Walter Brooks.

The officers to whom King had give himself up forced him to walk up to the rear of the house and fired it.

Brooks was murdered and Florence on the street. He introduced manse to the street saying that he had decided to tell what burn fell dead.

The shooting had by this time attracted hundreds of people, and nearly tracted hundreds of people, and nearly tracted hundreds of people, and nearly tracted hundreds of people.

Militia Called Out.

Governor Candler was advised by telephone of the rioting and ordered out the militia. Capt. W. W. Barker, of the Fifth Regiment, was ordered to proceed with fifty men and a plateon gun to the scene of the shooting and to-operate with the city authorities and the Sheriff of Fulton County.

Chief of Police Ball hurried to the scene on horseback and was joined a few minutes later by Sheriff J. W. Nelms. Nelms.

The desperado, Richardson, had been lost sight of. The house burned rapidly and a number of inmates were seen to run from the store to a woodshad and to a barn in the next lot. Orders were quickly given to fire these buildings, and in a few minutes they were burning.

with the colored men. A mob of 2.000 surged around the patrol wagon and clamored for the lives of the prisoners. The officers, throwing the men loto the bottom of the wagon, drew their revolvers and forced a passage through the crowd, finally lodging their prisoners in safety in the Fulton County Jail, on Butler street.

Believe Richardson Perished.

In less than an hour the block of wooden houses was burned to the round and a search of the ruins immediately followed. In a woodshed in the ear of Richardson's store was found a kull, and near if the steel barrel of a file. It is believed that the skull represented all that is left of the negro who lid the shooting.
